Hi everyone, hope you all recovered from Christmas celebrations, life is back to normal now, I quite like normal. It's pretty cold, but it's winter, shouldn't be surprised, but daffodils in the shops, my favourite flowers, look lovely, and spring is coming.

Those who are going to Harrogate in April need to pay this month. We have a great itinerary, all agreed by Kirbys - Harrogate, Harlow Carr on Tuesday, York on Wednesday, Rippon on Thursday, also Phil is organising walks for two days.

Our Quiz is on 22nd March £5.00 per person, please come, even if don't have a team we will sort out a team, ticket on sale February meeting. Don't forget if anyone has a good idea for a social event, please let us know. Judy had an idea for a Beetle drive, they are good fun, and we thought an afternoon would be a good time, no night driving. So it's in a planning stage.

I am looking forward to the spring. I love the garden, can't wait to be able to get outside. I am a fair-weather gardener I admit, the daffs are growing, some in bud, it's all coming to life. I personally have had a couple of nasty winter colds this year, can't wait to feel the sun on my face.

There is an urgent plea for a treasurer in this month's newsletter, a vital job, we cannot function without a treasurer, so please ask yourself could I do this, there will be help of course.

Also if you have any concerns about anything to do with u3a, please see a committee member, or myself, we of course can help you. We want you to enjoy being a member.

There is a committee meeting after general meeting

Lady Chair Beryl

***** URGENT ANNOUNCEMENT *****

Walks with Phil

Friday 2 February

A reminder that we will be meeting at Magnolia Park car park ready to walk by 9.45 for a circular walk with some gentle ups and downs to Beckney Woods and back. Crossing Greensward Lane twice which is not too busy. Probably taking about 1 hour 45 minutes.

Friday 16 February

Let's meet at John Burrows car park in Hadleigh ready to walk by 9.45. We will do an anti-clockwise circuit of woods and heaths that does not involve crossing any A or B roads. Also the ups and downs are very gentle. It will take under two hours.

Friday 1 March

Let's meet at Clements Hall by the entrance to the sports hall by 9.45. We will cross Rectory Road and follow Ironwell Lane as it transmogrifies into a tree lined track nearly as far as Rochford. Eventually we will turn sharp left along the path towards St Marys church in Hawkwell. When we get there, we will go under the railway bridge, and into and through Magnolia Park, before returning to Clements Hall via footpaths and the White Hart Lane bridge over the railway. Again, the ups and downs will be gentle. It will take under two hours.

All members with a reasonable level of walking fitness and sturdy footwear are very welcome to come on any or all of these walks. Just turn up. But any concerns at all please ring or text me

Hoping to see you on one or more of these walks. Phil Kelly

Monday Health Walks

Rae, Anne and Richard invite any of our u3a members to join us on our weekly, Monday walks from Magnolia Park. We start walking at 10.am so meet at 9.45.am to allow time to put on boots etc., to enable a prompt departure at 10 am. Walk distance is about 2 to 3 miles at a pace to suit the ability of the slowest walker. Please use suitable foot wear for unmade sometimes muddy footpaths and bring suitable rainwear etc for our changeable weather.

Group News Roundup

Cross Stitch session

Our first short course at trying our hand at making cross stitch samples for Easter cards and completing a long-term picture was held today. Lots of chat, a cuppa and of course a cake or two. We are learning as we go and looking forward to completing our cards. The next date is Feb 6th at 10-30 until noon.

Calligraphy Group

I have four new members join the Group last Monday which completes the amount of people I can accommodate, making a total of seven.

Their first time was a trial run and they all seemed to enjoy it, surprised it was not as easy as they thought, but I'm sure they will be fine, and with practise will turn into good calligraphy writers.

I have one lady on the waiting list who will be able to join when and if a place becomes available. It is difficult when no one wants to leave and it is only when they find they no longer wish to carry on I can take on another person.

Hopefully everyone is happy with the lessons and will continue to come along on a monthly basis.

Barbara Baker

I.T. Group

Our meetings continue to cover a wide variety of IT topics embracing phones, tablets and computers.

Recently we looked at how to find out who is sending you spam emails, checking for fake news, the future of Windows 10 and its implications for users, alternatives to Windows, and working with folders in Outlook.

It's time for a change so I will be stepping down as Group Leader at the end of February but I am pleased to announce that Robert Nickless will take over as Group Leader.

We will be opening up the group to new members and although we have had a couple of names on a waiting list if you are interested in joining, please contact one of the Group Co-ordinators (Rae Hill and Carole Edwards).

Theatre Group

We had a fabulous time at Six the Musical, such an uplifting show. Five hundred years of "herstorical" heartbreak packed into 75 minutes of girl power.

Bird Watchers

Due to illness the January outing was cancelled, also we will not be meeting in February. Our next meeting will hopefully be on Monday March 11th venue yet to be decided.

Local History 2

Our group met in Ashingdon Church Hall where we watched a film 'Rochford Past and Present' by Peter Whittingham, which Dave Pointer had found on the internet. We were joined by David and Val Whittingham who had not seen it before.

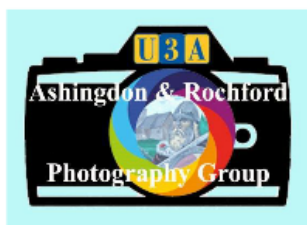

Carol Collins

We could see how country lanes had become the streets that we are familiar with today. We saw the cattle market in the Square and many of our members remembered the shops.

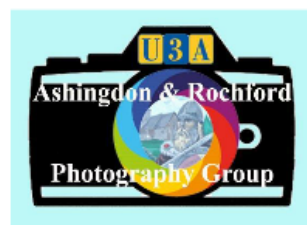

It was a very interesting afternoon.

U3A Photo Group Jan 2024 A Stormy Start to the Year

January in England can be a challenging time for photographers due to the weather. The month is characterised by short days, long nights, and unpredictable weather patterns. The weather can change rapidly, with sunny skies quickly giving way to rain and overcast conditions. This can make it difficult to capture the perfect shot, especially when the lighting is not ideal. Moreover, the cold temperatures can make it uncomfortable for photographers to spend long hours outside.

In addition to the usual challenges, England has experienced severe storms in January 2024. These storms have caused widespread flooding and damage across the country, making it difficult for people to access certain areas. The high winds and heavy rain have also made it challenging to take photos outdoors. The storms have caused power outages and travel disruptions, which can make it difficult for the poor traveller to reach their desired locations.

Despite these challenges, photographers can still find opportunities to take beautiful photos in England during January. For example, the storms can create dramatic and moody images, especially when the clouds break and the sun shines through. The flooding can also provide unique opportunities to capture the beauty of water and reflections. But news Photos can also show the misery and devastation of the people's homes caught by the encroaching flood water!

Photographers can take advantage of the low light conditions during sunrise & sunset plus exploit the winter conditions nature throws at us in January to create interesting images.

The January meeting was well attended with a question and answer session run by Paul.

All at Sea - Alan Perkins

In 1963, when I first moved to this area to take up my post as a Probation Officer, I found that one of my colleagues, roughly the same age as myself, was a chap named Norton Payne. I also discovered that Norton owned a sailing dinghy and that he sailed most weekends.

In my early teens, I had done a lot of rowing round the boating lake at Valentines Park, Ilford, but I had never done any sailing. Perhaps, inspired by the thought of Musto and Morgan - members of Thorpe Bay Yacht Club who gained a silver medal in one of the sailing categories at the 1964 Olympics, and as I was now living and working so close to the sea, I thought I would like to give it a try. After I had known him for some time, I therefore asked Norton, that if he had room one weekend when he was sailing, would he consider letting me accompany him. "Of course", he replied, "meet me next Sunday at Thorpe Bay Yacht Club at 9.30am." He went on to tell me what to bring with me; some sandwiches, drink, etc. and probably some advice about clothing.

The following Sunday was a bright, sunny, but rather blowy, summer's day. At 9.30am, there I was, in position, ready and waiting ... no Norton! 10.00am .... no Norton! Never mind, nice day, I'll just sit and enjoy the sunshine. 10.30am .... no Norton! Well It is Sunday morning and perhaps he had a late night last night? ... 11.00am. - give up!

But no, here comes Norton's car – "I was just about to give up" I say. "Sorry" says Norton "I forgot you were coming! It's not too late though, we can soon get going". Needless to say, it was not as easy as that. The dinghy had to be hauled from its mooring place to the slipway. Then there was a lot of faffing about with ropes and sails, but eventually I was shown my seat on one side of the boat while Norton, with ropes in his hand, sat on the other. Before I knew it, with a stiff breeze behind us, we were off.

Norton let sails on either side of us out fully and in no time at all we were scudding across the water at considerable speed. I was given to understand that we were heading towards the Isle of Sheppey, on the other side of the estuary, with a view to having our lunch on the cliffs there. Before that, however, we were making such good progress, that Norton decided to take us round the wartime forts situated in the estuary a little beyond Shoebury. Having done so, we then headed towards Sheppey.

At a spot below the cliffs we pulled the boat up on to the sand just beyond the water and climbed up on to the cliffs and sat there in the sunshine enjoying our lunch. After a short stretch out on the grass, we then made our way down the cliff and back to the dinghy. In the meantime the water had receded and was now about 30 yards away, so we dragged the boat across the sands to meet it and climbed in. It was probably at about this stage that I realised that the journey back was going to be different to the outward one! The wind which had been behind us was now blowing strongly against us and I was told that as a consequence we would have to deploy a tactic called 'tacking' which meant sailing into the wind, but at crisscrossing angles so as to keep the wind in our sails and provide forward motion.

Norton sat down and gathered up ropes (which he now referred to as sheets), instructing me to sit opposite, no longer on the seat, but on the edge with my feet tucked under something at the bottom and holding on to a rope. And then we were off, at a considerable angle, the sails brushing the water on one side and me hung out over the other to counter-balance, hanging on to my rope for dear life. Every so often a wave would break over me, leaving me spluttering, gasping and soaking wet. Every time I thought I could slide back in, Norton would pull on his 'sheet' and I would have to fling myself backwards again. At one stage, out of a clear blue sky, a cloud appeared above and it started raining. This coincided with the appearance of a motorised pleasure vessel, bathed in sunshine, going the other way, whose passengers kindly waved to us. I was too preoccupied with staying alive at the time to respond.

Eventually, with every muscle in my body hurting, we made it back to the Yacht Club. I found then that my ordeal was not quite over. Norton insisted that we had to remove all the salt water from the dinghy by hosing it down with fresh water before it was moored away!

Finally I took my battered body in to the club house for a hot shower before I went home. As I was drying, a man I vaguely knew came in and declared himself to be the club captain. "What have you been up to today?" he asked. So I told him. "Oh no", he said, "no one has been out today, that wind was far too dangerous". To add insult to injury he refused to take my word that he was wrong ...which he was!
