

Ants rant?

There are loads of writing prompts on the internet and I thought this would be something different.

Try to write a poem or short story about this – maximum of 300 words.

This would be a good one to use humour and dialogue if you fancied giving that a try, but any genre and style will be fine. I loo forward to seeing where this one takes you to!

