

The last Taboo?

Beccles Library

Wednesday 8 May, 6–7.30 pm

Free

Talking about death can be difficult and daunting. The annual Dying Matters Week is an opportunity to think about something we will all face. What do we feel about it? How can we become more open to it?

The event at Beccles Library will include a presentation by Rebekah Domer, an end-of-life doula, and an opportunity for questions and discussion. It will be a welcoming, structured and supportive evening.
