Reminder About Subscription Renewal March 31st

Thanks to everyone who has contributed to BArts over the past year. Your subscriptions have helped us to keep the Arts alive in Broxbourne and your enthusiasm and support for events makes it all worthwhile.

The different categories of subscription are still very modestly priced, considering how much costs have increased, and work out at little more than 50 pence per week. For this, members receive three full-colour printed programmes a year, twelve BArts Broadsheets and occasional discounts on some events. Affiliated Groups also benefit from the circulation of publicity—around 2,500 programmes are printed and distributed three times a year.

Current Subscriptions

Q. Where can artists exhibit in the Borough of Broxbourne?
A. After 20 successful years of exhibiting in the Spotlight bar, there isn't anywhere in the borough now, except the occasional offer of an empty shop window!

Lea Valley Art Society

Each year LVAS set members a painting challenge in the Spring. This year the Challenge was to paint A Front Cover Book Illustration- which was won by Angela Gonslaves. Her painting was in watercolour depicting Alice in Wonderland.

What A Difference!

The Petter Gallery has been refreshed with paler coloured case fronts to lighten and brighten the space. The cases are still arranged around themes, but these have been adapted and widened and now cover:

The Borough, Leisure, Childhood and Learning, Getting Around, Pubs and Inns (panel only), Shops and Shopping (panel only), Homes and War. More 20th century objects have been added

The Ward Gallery has been transformed into a new mini exhibition space, showcasing the amazing photograph collections. They are presented by areas of the Borough, as part of our Curated By series of exhibitions, which is part of the Your Heritage, Your Museum project.

Lowewood Museum's Curator, Helen Giles, L and Naomi Delamore R, the Community Engagement Officer

covers the village of Wormley. All of the photographs have been chosen and curated by local residents, who have provided information and memories. The next exhibition will be about Turnford and is likely to open in early 2024.

The first exhibition, which opened on Saturday 4th March,

Helen Giles and regular volunteer, Paul Martin.

The part played by enthusiastic and skilled volunteers at the museum has been crucial in the process of re-opening and refreshing the venue and displays. Lynn Phillips seen L with Naomi Delamore, recently received a Heritage Hero Award for her outstanding contribution.

The problem of dry rot at Lowewood continues, unfortunately, and has affected the opening and siting of several planned exhibitions. A permanent solution is being investigated.

St. George's Festival and Parade

Hoddesdon

This year the St. George's Festival and Parade is being held in early April in order to provide a reasonable amount of time before our King's Coronation event in May. It will comprise an arena programme of entertainment on the War Memorial island, an array of family orientated fairground rides/stalls in the Clock Tower area, and food and community stalls between Fawkon Walk to Lord Street. There will also be a parade involving costumed characters, as well as local schools/uniformed groups between 1.00pm – 1.30pm. This will start at the southern end of the High Street (near the Golden Lion PH) and end at the War Memorial.

Warning! The following opinion may distress some readers!

English Language and Literature Under Threat?!

Our language is one of the richest and most widely spoken in the world, but, increasingly, it is coming under attack by groups of ignorant, immature, hypersensitive people, who seem to be going through every long-established 'classic' or popular novel with a magnifying glass in search of potentially offensive words.

From Thomas the Tank, Enid Blyton and Roald Dahl to Agatha Christie, Ian Fleming Dickens and Shakespeare, the revisionists are at work finding problematic themes and words that have, so far, stood the test of time, deleting words such as fat, mad, crazy, backwards and darkly because they could upset people with weight, mental health or colour and race issues. Even nursery rhymes aren't safe...now we have. Baa Baa sheep sheep and The farmer wants a person!

It is also suggested that people can't cope with anything that isn't relevant to 'today', so directors update and distort themes, settings, costumes and props in 'classic' drama to make it more acceptable. St. Joan with a mobile phone for her 'voices', or Othello in a flak jacket is a bit hard to take and makes nonsense of so much of the action!

Updating Dickens' impressive narrative and memorable characters to give them modern social problems and a vocabulary of expletives really doesn't add anything to the original. If that's the only kind of literature the meddlers think appropriate for today, let them write their own!
