

Origami Gift Boxes

In January, a large number of crafters met to make a couple of little origami gift boxes. This required precise measuring and folding. These lovely boxes were then covered in beautiful hand printed Japanese Chiyogami paper. This is an exquisite paper which elevated our hand folded boxes to the next level! The only fly in the ointment was that my trusty butterfly punch decided to break and so we were not all able to decorate our boxes as intended. Still, people managed to embellish their boxes imaginatively with mini stick on pearls. All was not lost!
