

Pop-up Bouquet Card and Waterfall Card: October 2020

This month, a small number of crafters gathered for the second time since last February to make some greetings cards. We made two different cards: one which opened to reveal a pop-up bouquet and the other was a waterfall card, which on pulling a tab, cascades a series of pictures and the greeting. We had fun cutting, colouring and sticking! It was also great for the second month in succession to feel 'normal' and get back to our group sessions. Below are some photos of our cards – I think you will agree that they are most attractive, although it is difficult to capture the action of a waterfall card!
