

Visit to the Christmas Market at Ely Cathedral: November 2022

A coach load of 50 members visited the Christmas market at Ely Cathedral last week.

Having watched the weather report, it was supposed to be cold with no rain. Wrong. On the day the heavens opened, and it continued to pour with rain throughout the day. Fortunately, a huge amount of the stalls were inside the Cathedral itself which we had tickets for.

Hundreds of visitors, numerous stalls with wonderful, if sometimes a little expensive, items for sale, and lots of hot mulled wine and spiced apple drinks helped make the day a success.

Most of our members had carrier bags with their purchases in, and a somewhat soggy and tired group assembled at the coach for the journey home. It was such a shame for the stallholders who were outside as they did not get the customers they had hoped for.

For those who missed the outing, and those who want to return, we are booked for 16th November 2023 for hopefully a drier visit.
