

About Us

We are a registered charity and operate within the rules of the Charity Commission with the help of the u3a Trust to which we are affiliated. The u3a Trust provides information on the documents we need to comply with the Charity Commission rules as well as a member's magazine (Chatterbox), website (Chatteris u3a) and an integrated membership, groups, finance and mailing system known as Beacon.

Chatteris u3a is managed by an Executive Committee of up to 12 trustees who are responsible for maintaining your u3a's viability and providing the best possible service to our members, both current and future. We are committed to looking after our members and to that end we have systems and policies in place that are designed, with the advice of experts, to keep your information safe, ensure your safety while in u3a care and maintain the security of the funds you give to Chatteris u3a for its operation. The Committee is responsible for the operation and maintenance of these systems and policies.

As we are a volunteer led group we always welcome new volunteers who wish to become involved in our u3a. This can be from helping at the open meetings, running an interest group through to being a member of the Executive Committee.

Once a year we hold an AGM where the Executive Committee report to members on the actions taken over the previous year to develop Chatteris u3a and its current financial stability. At this meeting the Executive Committee stands down and a new committee is elected for the coming year. The future success of our u3a requires new volunteers to be part of the Executive Committee and those interested in contributing to its future through membership of the executive committee have the opportunity to be nominated for election at the AGM.
