To Crawley U3A Secretary

You may recall that last August I ran a couple of workshops on Improvised Comedy ("improv" for short). You were good enough to publicise these in Crawley and a couple of your members did attend.

There was sufficient enthusiasm amongst those who came for me to start running regular monthly workshops, which have been great fun. However, as time has gone on, people have dropped out and I have found it difficult to recruit new members. I wonder if you would again publicise the existence of these workshops which are, as far as I know, unique within the U3A.

The workshops are usually held on the first Monday on the month, although, the next one is actually on Monday 21st May. They run from 2pm - 4pm at the Community Room in the Hookwood Tesco's. Tea, coffee and biscuits are provided and it is all completely free.

Absolutely no experience is necessary and you do not need to be "naturally funny" or anything like that. Improv will develop skills like listening, supporting each other and being positive about other people's suggestions. But, as I always say, the main thing is to have fun.

If anyone is interested they can contact me on jimp1951afcw@hotmail.co.uk or 01293 784313.
