Emergency Contact Details for DU3A Members

The recent changes to Data Protection Legislation mean DU3A cannot hold anyone's contact details without their specific written consent. When members are out and about as a group activity it is a good idea to know who we should contact in case of any sort of emergency. Up to now we have been collecting the information on the day of travel and destroying it afterwards – keeping this information on file would save a lot of time and trouble.

Ideally this would be someone who would have access to the member's house in case that was needed.
