

Message From the Chairman

Welcome to November's newsletter.

At our October meeting Stuart Bradshaw gave a fascinating insight to the history of milling in and around Driffield including of course Bradshaws and Bell Mills. This was extremely well received.

This month's talk promises to be an education; Dr John Ridley will talk us through his experiences in over twenty years as a village headmaster.

Following the Open Day and our Market Stall, we have seen more interest in our groups, and our new Tai Chi Group has its first meeting on 2nd November! There was plenty of interest too for the Bird Watching Group and we are hoping to have a meeting to discuss this at the end of November. If you would like to have a group to meet your particular interest, please do contact Teresa and we will sound it out and help to get it started.

We had a good response to the call for volunteers to help with the Christmas party. We will be in touch with those of you who have offered your services following the Committee meeting to discuss how you can help. Thank you to you all

Maggie Bray

If you have food in your fridge, clothes on your body, a roof over your head and a place to sleep, you are richer than 75% of the entire world.

If you have money in the bank, your wallet, and some spare change you are among 18% of the world's most wealthy people.

If you are alive today and healthy, you are more blessed than the millions of people who will not survive this week.

If you can read and understand this message you are more fortunate than the 3 billion people in the world who cannot read it at all.

Life is not about complaining. Life is about the thousands of reasons to be grateful and happy.

"A Sunday outing for two IPG Members. There should have been five of us but, due to circumstances, only two were able to go. We caught a very early 'Dales Bus' from Pocklington, Kathleen got off and spent the day in York, and I went on to Fountains Abbey. I've always wanted to go there and this was an ideal day. The weather was very pleasant and, apart from a hiccup returning, we both had a great time at our respective venues. Can't wait for the service to resume next summer." (M Carter)

Birth Flowers for November—Crysanthemum and Peony

Chrysanthemums come in a wide variety of colours which represent different meanings. Red chrysanthemums may be given as a declaration of love and passion; Yellow signify optimism for joyous times ahead; White flowers are symbols of purity and innocence and also truth, loyalty and honesty. Green—Much like the four leaf clover, green chrysanthemums mean good luck, rebirth, and good health. Purple symbolizes thoughtfulness and care making them the perfect "get well soon" flower. Pink—symbolizes friendship and affection.

They are one of several flowers in the Asteraceae family that are edible. The chrysanthemum flower has also been used for its medicinal properties and Chrysanthemum tea is still a common herbal remedy used to treat chest pain, high blood pressure, diabetes, headaches and inflammation.

Chrysanthemums represent a 13th wedding anniversary.

Peonies also come in a variety of colours with different meanings. Red—these peonies were once prized by the emperors of China and represents passion and the epitome of honour, respect, and prosperity. Pink peonies are the most common, ranging in hue from pale blush pink to coral to a vivid fuchsia and signifies love, beauty and friendship. White represent shyness and timid flirtations but can also be apology flowers. Yellow peonies symbolise new beginnings and fresh starts, as well as optimism and happiness.

Peonies represent a 12th wedding anniversary.

Bird Watching Group

We've had a great response to our enquiry about forming a Bird Watching Group. We are hoping to have a meeting of all those of you who are interested to discuss your needs and to appoint a Group Leader.

Monday, 27th November at 10am in the Cricket Club

Please let Gerald Massey know if you will be able to attend

Dates in History

2nd November 1936	The world's first regular TV service was started by the British Broadcasting Corporation. An estimated 100 TV owners tuned in.
4th November 1843	The 5.5 metre statue of Lord Nelson was hauled to the top of its 60 metre column in Trafalgar Square, London.
5th November 1605	Guy Fawkes is arrested beneath the Houses of Parliament as a plot to blow up England's King James I is uncovered.
6th November 1429	Henry VI is crowned King of England
8th November 1656	Birth of Edmond Halley the English astronomer and mathematician, best known for identifying the comet named after him.
20th November 1947	Princess Elizabeth (Queen Elizabeth II) married her cousin Lieutenant Philip Mountbatten (Duke of Edinburgh) at Westminster Abbey.
22nd November 1963	The world mourns at the news that President John F Kennedy had been shot and killed in Dallas, Texas.
24th November 1859	Charles Darwin publishes his book Origin of the Species.
30th November 1936	One of London's best-loved landmarks, the Crystal Palace, burned down. The huge glass building originally housed the Great Exhibition of 1851.

Guy Fawkes We all know the story about Guy Fawkes and his plan to blow up King James I, his family and a good many politicians attending the state opening of the Houses of Parliament in 1605. Guy Fawkes had been a soldier and was an explosives expert. He was caught in the vaults beneath the Houses of Lords along with 36 barrels of gunpowder. Fawkes was imprisoned and tortured before he and his fellow conspirators were tried for high treason and sentenced to death by hanging, drawing and quartering. Their heads and other body portions were set up at various places around London as a reminder not to fool around with gunpowder or conspiracies.

Today, one of the ceremonies accompanying the opening of a new session of Parliament is a traditional searching of the basement by the Yeoman of the Guard, although the original cellar where the gunpowder was stored has long gone. As you would expect, there are more effective up to date scientific anti-terrorism measures taken as well.

In 2003, explosives experts from the University of Wales estimated that Fawkes' gunpowder stash would not only have taken out parliament and its occupants but much of the surrounding area too. They estimated there was 2500 kg of gunpowder packed into the barrels, and that it would have had similar destruction capabilities as an equivalent amount of the current day explosive, TNT. That would be enough to destroy the Houses of Parliament and Westminster Abbey and damage buildings as far down Whitehall as the Prime Minister's residence at 10 Downing Street several hundred metres away. Their estimate of the massive destruction wasn't based on guess work. They used data from damage caused to London buildings by bombing during World War II, as well as by IRA bombs in the 1970s and 1980s.

10 November: Unintended consequences—Decisions have consequences. Sometimes they are what we expect, but sometimes you get something entirely different. If governments do this the outcome can be serious. We'll discuss a few examples, and I'm sure members will bring their own examples.

17 November: Member's Choice

24 November: Forgiveness—People do bad things and are punished. Sometimes it doesn't end there. The person might lose their job, their family and friends, and their reputation. As a society should we be more forgiving? Or do wrongdoers get what they deserve?

1 December: Prison and punishment—Imprisonment has been used as a punishment for hundreds, if not thousands of years. Is there a better way of dealing with those who offend?

9th November—Dr John Ridley—“A Village Headmaster”

John’s talk ‘A Village Headmaster’ is set against a backdrop of rapid and unrelenting educational change following the 1988 Education Reform Act. The establishment of Ofsted, the National Curriculum and compulsory testing for primary school children, redefined what was expected of teachers. Even with these pressures village primary schools continued to nurture their pupils and provided first class education which allowed children to grow and yet retain their individuality. John spent twenty-one years in a small village primary school and, through his stories, told with gentle humour, takes us through his experiences as a village headmaster. In his first term as head, and on the day of his first parents’ meeting, he discovered that the father of two of his pupils was not only an HMI but also Ofsted’s senior staff inspector! John tells of early pioneering links with city schools in Birmingham and Newcastle, working with and firing clay, making a BBC TV programme for schools, his love of outdoor education, the murder of Saint Alkelda, the legend of the Phantom Bagpiper of Great Fryup Dale and, of course, the amazing things that children say!
