

Downloading Zoom from the Zoom Website

<https://youtu.be/VOE38NjH7rk>

Navigate to the zoom website by Googling “Zoom “or using this link:- <https://zoom.us/>

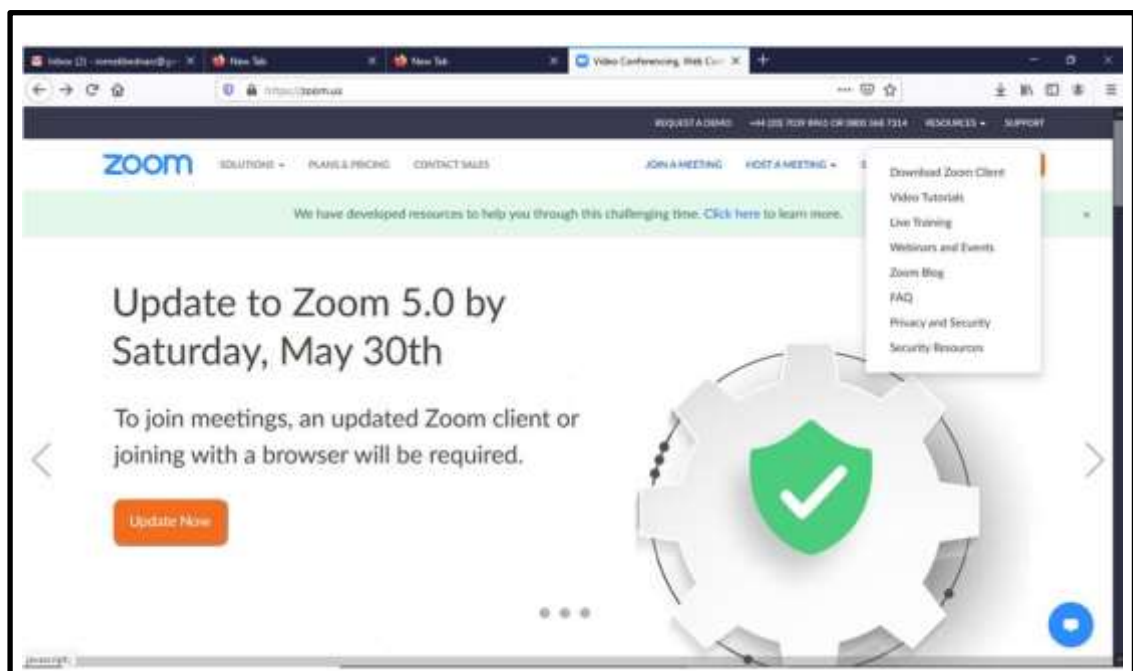

This will take you to the Zoom homepage-

This page may change over time – so it may not be identical to above.

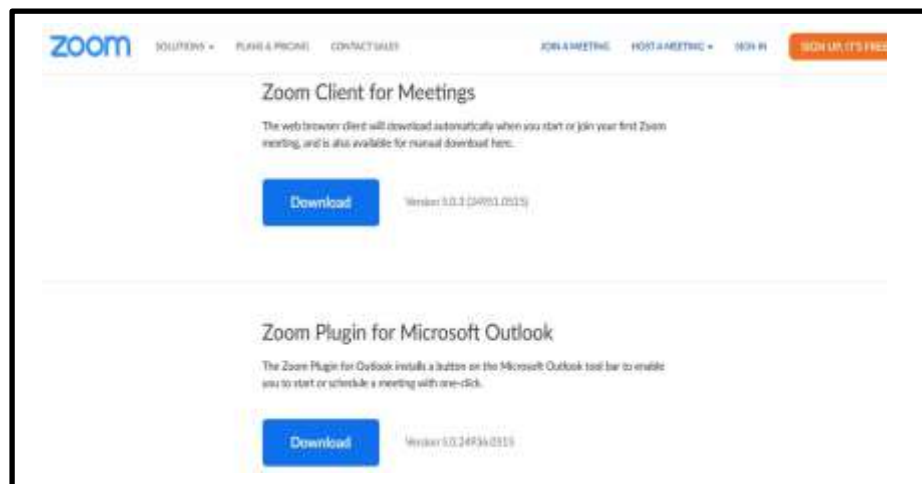

You need to click on RESOURCES – second from right along the top.

Click on RESOURCES then choose the first from the dropdown link – “download Zoom client “

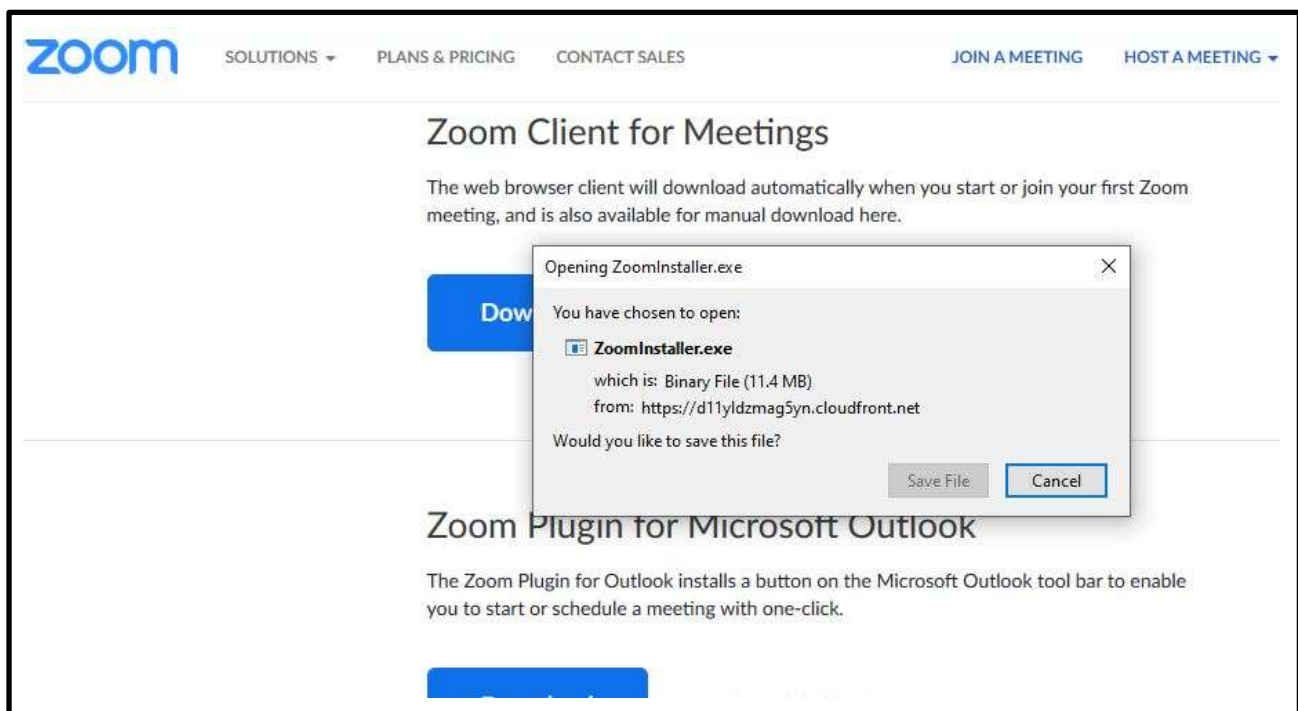

You may want to use this link which will take you directly to RESOURCES :-

https://zoom.us/download#client_4meeting

Click on the blue download rectangle “ Zoom Client for Meetings “ the top one in the list.

A box will pop up as shown above

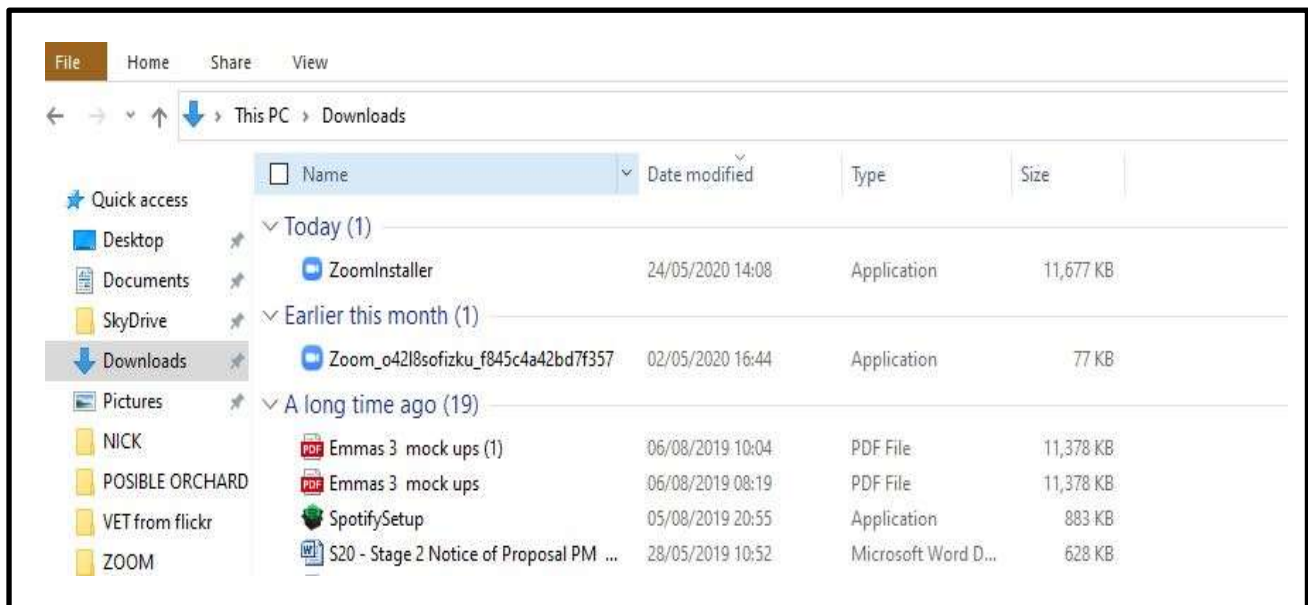

Click on “Save file” that will start the download

Your download will go to your downloads folder

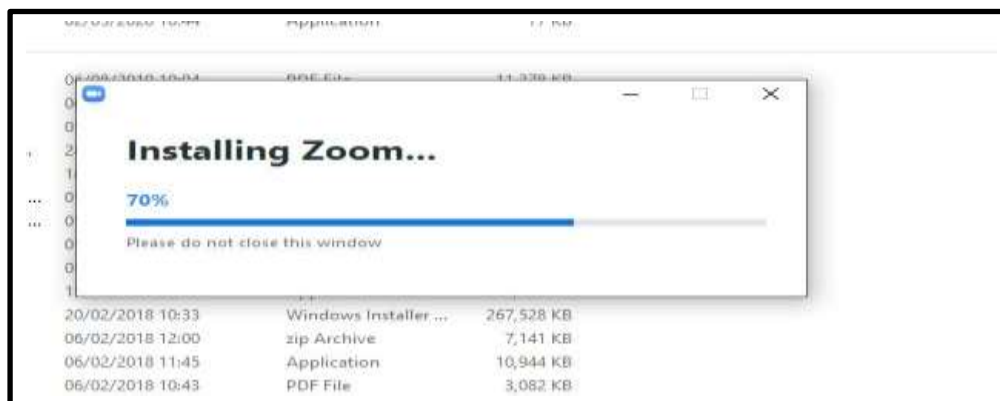

Use File Explorer to Navigate to the file you have downloaded – its called “Zoominstaler”

It may not be first in the list – This will depend on how your ‘view’ setting are arranged – it may be alphabetical order.

Your browser may have a download arrow which will take you to recent downloads if you click it after downloading a file.

Click on Zoominstaler - zoom will start installing on your PC

You may get a warning message from windows saying “ give permission to make changes to your Windows “ say ‘yes’

Once finished – zoom will be on your list of Apps and programmes (in alphabetical order so right at the end)

This is what a zoom invitation may look like

Just click on the blue link- the app will open and you will be taken to the meeting.

When you click on a Zoom invitation it will open automatically – you do not need to navigate to the zoom app.

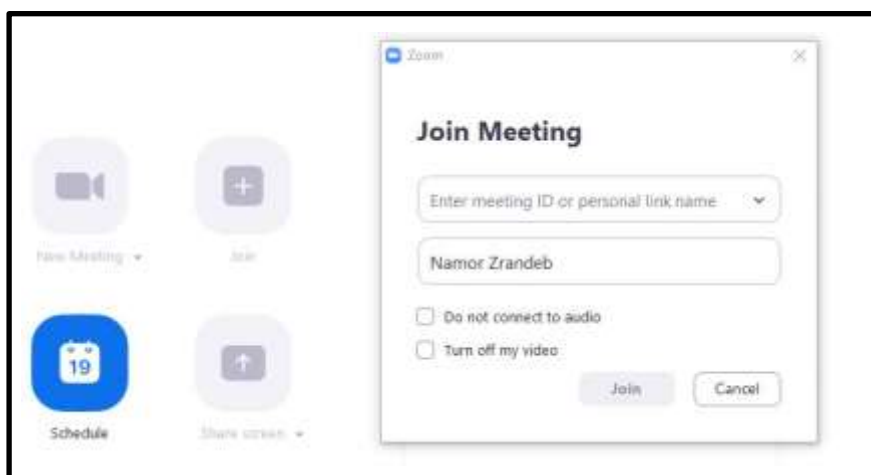

You do NOT need a Zoom account to join Zoom meetings .

(To initiate and host a Zoom Meeting you do need an account.)

When the zoom app opens you can type in your name so others in the meeting can see who you are.

(you do not need to use your real name but if the meeting has been arranged by an organisation ‘strangers’ may possible not be admitted so bear that in mind.

Sometimes if there are problems with the link you can join by typing in the meeting ID and the password

The instruction sheet/ video “ install Zoom from an invitation “ gives more details about installing and joining a meeting.
