

Our first ever Study Day - a Tremendous Success

A hundred and fifty U3A members and others from the community attended our first Study Day focussing on:

'The Exe Estuary: Past, Present and Future'

Participants enjoyed an interesting and informative programme from a wide range of speakers, from historians to local businesses to local charities - all united in their enthusiasm for sustaining the Exe Estuary. Attendees also enjoyed refreshments including delicious cakes made by our members, and a wonderful display of Estuary-themed photographs by Exmouth Photography Group.

Particular thanks are due to:

Your Committee for agreeing to the Study Day in the first place! And for giving their time on the day so generously

Mary Solway and Rosemary Walsh for making the day run so successfully

Our talented cake makers for making the day run so sweetly

Our Meeters and Greeters and Time Team for making the day run so smoothly

John Hunt and Geoff Shea for making the day run so 'bug' freely

Marion Ricketts for deterring 'gate crashers' so courteously

Terry Walsh for videoing the day so unobtrusively

Andy Lock for timekeeping the Speakers so diligently

The Pavilion and Posh Nosh staff for making the day run so professionally

And, last but not last, all you who attended for making this special day run so good-naturedly

A brilliant example of great planning and co-operation - just a large Exmouth and District U3A group really!

Jan Harper Shea
