

GARDENING GROUP

Winter has been quite kind so far to the u3a Promenade Garden. We restarted gardening in mid February and the garden was quickly looking neat and very colourful with the winter heathers and spring bulbs being particularly bright this year. The weather has also been generally kind to your gardeners although not on the day when I took this photograph! We went for coffee very shortly afterwards!

Looking forward to better weather as we move into late spring and early summer when the main planting should start to blossom. Perhaps then on a sunnier day I will get the chance to provide another photograph.
