

Lytham Moss Easy Walk (2.57miles)

Starting from Wildings Lane, Stroll down the Lane, passing some new houses on your right, watch out for the ground is uneven with large potholes. At the T junction, turn right and walk for about 250yds, then turn left at the signpost. There are some new garden benches along this stretch, but its too early for a rest. Walk along here for about 600yds ignoring the paths to either side, then at the sign-posted cross-roads, look ahead and to your right across a field and you will see the radar station. Turn left here, then after 350yds, at the crossroads, turn right. After about 600yds you will pass a Kennels on your right. You'll know when you're there even before you see it. A little further on, bear left onto Division Lane. You may see Horses in the field on your right, continue along Division Lane for about 300yds, then turn left after Appleton. This path has a wide water filled ditch running parallel on your right. You might have noticed there are water filled ditches alongside all of the paths. More Horses in the fields here and good 360 degree views. At the next Junction, turn left. This is one of the potentially muddier sections of path. There could be large puddles of water too. I hope you've got good shoes or boots on. At the next junction, turn right and cross the ditch on the small bridge and carry on. After about 700yds, the path curves around to your left and then you arrive back at the junction to Wilders Lane. Turn right here and walk back to the start. Treat yourself with a trip to The Waters Edge Pub just across the main road.
