

In the dead of night, Jacki Gordon can be found raiding her kitchen fridge, not for a midnight snack but her next idea for a mini work of art.

The 63-year-old from Glasgow has used lockdown to hone her skill for creating - and photographing - remarkable miniature scenes from everyday foodstuff.

