NEWBURY

Theatre Planning Group Trip

“DROP the DEAD DONKEY”

NEW VICTORIATHEATRE, WOKING.

Wednesday, 29th May. At 2.30pm £44 per person.

The sitcom, which ran for 65 episodes from 1990 to 1998, followed the trials and tribulations of “Globelink”, a fictional TV news company. It was notable for being written and recorded much closer to transmission than most sitcoms, allowing the writers to satirise current events and the leading news stories of the week. Now brought to the stage, enthusiastically, by the remaining original cast members.

There is a good choice of eateries, close to the Theatre, to be found before the show.

Pickup Points:

Newbury Bus Station at The Wharf: 10.30am.

Newbury Rugby Club, Monks Lane: 10.45am (Parking £3 to be included in cheque)
