

Further information

In 2019 Barbara did some research for publications into the situation for the native seal subspecies, which live along the Lincolnshire and Norfolk coast. Her talk about seals will be based on her findings; in it she will be outlining which seal subspecies live along the East coast of England, what problems they face in their natural habitat and where to watch them in Lincolnshire and Norfolk

