

MONDAY DECEMBER 4TH Deucheny Hill

The recent weather, strongly supported a walk close to Perth and away from the distant hills, consequently, Deucheny was agreed on as a suitable target. Four of us turned out and we drove to the small parking space on the minor road past Guay.

We started the walk at 0900..the track crosses the usual track to Loch Ordie and ascends through woodland, passes a small Loch to reach to top of Deucheny via a short steep section. We descended the other side on a steep icy path to join the track circumventing the hill-- eventually getting to the lodge at Loch Ordie for lunch stop plus inquisitive robin.

Then back to the car park via outgoing route.(1400hrs.)

Good coffee stop at Stewart Tower.

Total distance 13 km

Total climb 375m
