

Inaugural Meeting

Thursday 5 October 2023

Scout Hall

2 pm Assemble – pay £1.50

Introductions

Review of survey results and discussion on future meetings

Refreshment break

Overview of Ancestry DNA website with live demonstration & discussion

4 pm Meeting ends

Hi, Welcome to our DNA Group. So far we have 16 members, but I hope that more will join once we get going. Thirteen of you managed to complete the questionnaire so the results will give us a good base to start from. I have provisionally booked the Scout Hall for meetings on Thursday 7 December 2023 and Thursday 1 February 2024. We can discuss this at our meeting.

I will bring some tea/coffee and biscuits to this first meeting, but would appreciate if two members could help serve it at the break. As I said in the initial email we will need to pay £1.50 each meeting to cover our costs.

We have a wealth of talent and knowledge in this group so I will be looking to you all to contribute in some way. I plan to publish a newsletter between meetings so please let me have any tips to pass on. My contribution is below. I also hope that we can share info through our web pages and set up a Buddy system to give one-to-one help to those that require it. Together we can help each other progress with our family history research.

Jan

The Gift
RADIO 4
Without us realising, an enormous DNA database has been created online. But what happens when online ances...

Subscribed Share

Introducing The Gift

Have you ever been curious enough to tr...

2 mins | 04 Sep 2023

1. Fraud

A DNA test given as a birthday present e...

Listened

2. Justice

A son's quest to learn more about his lat...

28 mins | 18 Sep 2023

An interesting Programme

You might find this BBC Radio 4 series interesting to listen to. They can be found on BBC Sounds or pick it up live at 11 am on Monday with "3. Mistakes". For some the gift revealed unexpected results, but I think that we are all aware that this can happen.