

Monday Walkers enjoy the sunshine!

Our February walk took us to Bicker – a good choice in the winter months as we walk on very quiet roads and no mud – well not much. The snowdrops covered the banks of the old Haven estuary. The medieval Haven estuary is a reminder of how important Bicker once was a port – the site of the present Red Lion was the quay where boats from the Wash were unloaded.

Heading out in a loop towards the A17 we passed several horse paddocks under water due to the heavy rain at the weekend, and brown cattle safely tucked away in their warm sheds. The wind got a bit stronger but we pressed on. With the 4 mileish walk concluded we drove on to Ivys restaurant on the A17. Despite it being a Monday the restaurant was heaving but as one of our number remarked 'quality will attract custom' – I had a brie and bacon panini which included a very generous portion of bacon.

The group is modest in size so we welcome anyone who feels the need to walk a bit more. On good days there's nothing like a bit of flat Lincolnshire countryside with its vast skies. Contact Barbara Charity – groups listing at the back of this newsletter. We meet on the second Tuesday in the month.
