

I am getting in touch on behalf of Cedar Theatre CIC, which has recently been awarded a National Lottery grant to provide Shakespeare workshops across Sussex. These are aimed specifically at adults who are interested not only in text analysis but also in improving physical activity and learning how to study Shakespeare in a way that is both understandable and enjoyable. As well as a practical workshop where participants will perform monologues after working through them in detail, there will be the option of a short devised performance of selected works to help demonstrate the possibilities of the text.

The workshop is led by Colin David Reese, who has worked as a professional actor for over 50 years, performing with the likes of Harold Pinter and Lauren Bacall. He has also directed over 30 plays and runs regular workshops both in the UK and internationally. Thanks to this generous grant, Cedar Theatre CIC and Colin are able to offer a limited number of workshops for completely free, at a venue and on a date that suits you.

It would be fantastic to chat with you further and to find out if this might be something that your members would be interested in. Would it be possible to arrange a time for myself or Colin to speak with you?

Thank you and best wishes,

Kimberley Brough
