

U3A Day

Read more....

We are fortunate in that the Lord Lieutenant of Wigtownshire, Aileen Brewis has agreed to officially open the event. We are still finalising our programme which has had to be changed due to Covid precautions but we'll still planning to have an active day to include street/beach cleans, talks on various topics on Zoom including a talk on local geology and how it has shaped industry, a French conversation taster, a gardening chat, an outdoor 'readathon', virtual wine tasting and (hopefully) a presence in libraries and community centres to showcase what we're about. If you want to help by joining in the activities, handing out leaflets, dress windows or talk to people about our u3a we'd be pleased to hear from you!

The event is part funded by a grant provided by Killgallioch Community Benefit Fund administered by Foundation Scotland.
